

Im Labyrinth des Schweigens

Labyrinth of Lies

Director: Giulio Ricciarelli. Cast: Alexander Fehling, André Szymanski, Friederike Becht
Drama. Germany (2014). 118 min. German with English subtitles

Set in 1958, "Labyrinth of Lies" is a gripping story that exposes the conspiracy of prominent German institutions and government branches to cover up the crimes of Nazis during World War II. While the economic miracle is changing the life of Germans in post-war Germany, most of them are sick of the war and prefer to push their guilt to the back of their mind. When a journalist identifies a teacher in the playground as a former guard from Auschwitz, no one wants to take notice. But a young and idealistic prosecutor, Johann Radmann, takes on the case and can't even be stopped by his boss. During his research he realizes that some Germans claim that they never heard the expression "Auschwitz," while others try to forget about it. Struggling with an overload of information, the young attorney blunders into a labyrinth of guilt and lies. Both the horrors of the past and the hostility shown towards his work bring Johann close to a meltdown.
